Morning

I can feel your eyes like the sun shining behind the clouds

I can hear your voice like a whisper calling me in the wind

I need a morning
to shatter this long night forever

I need a hero
to stop this thousand year old pain

I feel your light rising
Isn't the morning close the bright morning?

I feel your light rising
Isn't the morning close the bright morning?

The morning The morning

You'll come and reveal
All the treasures in the earth and the sky

But is there anything Better than your loving face and better than your boundless love?

I need a morning
to shatter this long night forever

I need a hero
to stop this thousand year old pain

I feel your light rising
Isn't the morning close the bright morning?

I feel your light rising
Isn't the morning close the bright morning?

Morning

The morning The morning
The morning The morning

I'm wasting my time
trying to calm my heart without you

I'm wasting my time
trying to find some light without you

I'm wasting my time
trying to calm my heart without you

I'm wasting my time

I feel your light rising
Isn't the morning close the bright morning?

I feel your light rising
Isn't the morning close the bright morning?

The morning The morning
The morning The morning
